The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 40-54 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The specification as originally filed is replete with vague description of the claimed invention, too numerous to mention all, e.g. on page 14, “or better”, “special shapes”, “common design”, “about to scale”; page 15, “partially tightened or braced and pictured”, “shaped parts” throughout the specification is vague as it does not specify what shapes these parts are; “even contact surfaces”, “newly created contact surfaces”, “specially shaped inlet”, “quasi layered contact surface”, “layered shape of the contact surface”, “or better the end piece”, “expanded towards the shaft”, “features parts”, etc. On page 17, the description “reach over the side 31”, and the meaning of the even contact surfaces are unclear.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 40-46,48-51, and 60 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 40, it is unclear how the scaffold element or the coupling, depending on the interpretation of the sentence, can comprise a first scaffold. Also is the “a first scaffold”, “the scaffold”, and “a scaffold” the same or different elements? The phrases “the scaffold”, as set forth in claim 40, and “the contact surface on the free ends”, as set forth in claim 46, lack antecedent basis. In claim 44, the claimed vertical, short flat, and longitudinal bevels, and the “slightly flattened surface” are vague. In claims 46 and 48 it is unclear how the contact area and the contact surface are complementary.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 40-46,48-51,53,54, and 60, as can be best understood in light of the poorly written description and the vague and indefinite claims language, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Swiss pat. ‘223. Swiss ‘223 shows a beveled head.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 52 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Swiss '223. to provide a coating to the T-head as claimed, would have been an obvious mechanical expedient, as the practice of coating a surface as a means to lessen friction between gliding surfaces is a conventional practice.

This application contains claims 47, and 55-59 are drawn to an invention nonelected with traverse in Paper No. 9. A complete reply to the final rejection must include cancellation of nonelected claims or other appropriate action (37 CFR 1.144) See MPEP § 821.01.

Applicant's arguments with respect to the canceled claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
